The political status of Ohio has been determined. Representative Longworth says he is for Taft.

The author of "Floradora" is dead. Let's see; that's the play that had a chorus with Evelyn Nesbit in it.

President Roosevelt says he has no pet candidate for president. Well, Taft is some large to be called a pet.

There is a proposition on foot in Boston to erect a statue to Silencio. And the question naturally arises, Will it be golden?

"The price of liquid air has been reduced," says an exchange, but it will be some time yet before it becomes as cheap as hot air.

Former Secretary Shaw says the trouble with the stock market in New York is that it was overstimulated. Who ever heard of water stimulating?

Phoenix has made somewhat of a record for rapid subscriptions toward raising a fund for a Y. M. C. A. building. Globe might take a hint from the Capital city.

If President Roosevelt, as some of his ardent supporters desire, were to remain president until the Panama canal is completed, how long will it be before it is and how old will he be?

A large portion of the wrongdoing in this world, declares a Massachusetts bishop, is the result of late marriages. The remainder of the trouble he probably ascribes to early marriages.

It is now reported that Governor Hagerman of New Mexico, as well as Governor Kibbey of Arizona, is soon to be put on the bench. As there are a number of Rough Riders still without federal jobs, it looks as though there might be something in the rumor.

THE OPERA BOUFFE OF IT

At Des Moines some days ago Mr. Bryan recalled and canceled the commendation he had so frequently given Mr. Roosevelt, declaring that the president had gone too far on the road to reform to continue a Republican and not far enough to become a Democrat. At the same time he affixed the seal of his approval on Robert M. La Follette with the dictum that the senator from Wisconsin is the only genuine Democrat the Republican party can show, whereupon Mr. La Follette immediately came out for Mr. Roosevelt as his candidate for president in 1908. Then appeared Mr. John Temple Graves, who, face to face with the "matchless" and the "peerless," admonished Mr. Bryan that there is nothing for him to do but to enter the Democratic national convention next year and join the enthusiastic, the unanimous, the delirious nomination of Mr. Roosevelt through that body.

As yet there are folks who assert that America is a poor theme for opera bouffe. Mr. Graves was good enough to say that Mr. Roosevelt has not yet reached that stage of exaltation in Democracy that Mr. Bryan has attained—who has?—but that Mr. Roosevelt is just as good a Democrat as a Republican can get to be, and the only available man the ex-grand old Democratic party can name. Only last week Mr. Bryan again read all the Cleveland Democrats out of the party for aiding Mr. McKinley in 1896. What he will do to Mr. Graves for proposing Mr. Roosevelt for 1908 remains to be seen. It is well understood that it is impossible for anything to be Democratic that Mr. Bryan does not evolve out of his labyrinth of political vagaries, and that nobody can be a Democrat whom Mr. Bryan has not branded with his mark.

But Mr. Bryan is the idol of a large following. There are millions of Democrats who would rather go to defeat with him than to victory with another, even though that other were a Bryanite from the beginning. If Mr. Bryan will take it, there is nothing more certain that he will head the ticket labeled "Democratic" in 1908. What then? Who, other than Roosevelt, can beat him? It is equally plain that Mr. Roosevelt can get the Republican nomination in 1908 without a struggle. Suppose Roosevelt shall conclude, suppose the Republican party shall conclude,

DUKE OF MANCHESTER AND VISCOUNT MANDEVILLE.

When the young Duke of Manchester came over to America a few years ago and carried off Miss Helen Zimmerman of Cincinnati, the mayor's daughter, as his bride and duchess, there was much more than a nine days' wonder as to how the match would turn out. It appears that his grace William Augustus Drogo Montagu, otherwise the Duke of Manchester, is one foreign nobleman whose matrimonial alliance with an American beauty has not turned out sadly. Viscount Mandeville, the young son of the pair and heir to the dukedom, was born in 1902. The duke is now thirty years of age. His dukedom was founded in 1719.

that the only way to beat Bryan is to pit Roosevelt against him?

The Republicans will have the first say. The majority party—that is, the party in power—usually strips for action first. If Mr. Roosevelt shall be nominated in June, would Mr. Bryan accept a nomination in July? Or would he send Folk, or Culberson, or Tom Johnson to the slaughter? Or would he say this is another occasion for a "safe and sane" ticket and order the nomination of Gray or Harmon, confident in the belief, blissful in the hope, that Roosevelt's victory in 1908 would eclipse that of 1904?

BOILERMAKERS AT C. Q. SMELTER OUT

Seven Union Men Called Out at Douglas—Caused by Differences Between Southwestern and Union.

The union boilermakers of the Copper Queen reduction works were ordered out yesterday by a wire from the president of the organization in Kansas City. A dispatch representative found some of the men who had quit work at the order of the president of the boilermakers union and asked for the reason of this act on the part of the union, says the Douglas Dispatch.

One of the boys who had learned the trade here at the Copper Queen stated that he did not know what the reason was, but that he understood it was on account of the Southwestern railroad.

"We had trouble with the road when the Alamogordo difference arose about a year ago. Every union boilermaker all along the line was replaced by non-union men."

Another one of the men who quit work yesterday stated emphatically that it was in no way connected with the Bisbee strike.

"We are called out on account of the difference between the railroad and the boilermakers. The Copper Queen company owns the railroad and as we are working for the company we are considered to be working for the railroad. Hence, the cause of the telegram ordering us out. Of course, it will make no difference to the company that we have, as we were the only union boilermakers working for the entire company and six or seven men can be easily replaced. We dislike to leave the Copper Queen company, as we have always been well paid and are entirely satisfied in every particular. We receive good wages, better than we expect to get elsewhere, and it is by no desire of ours that we leave the Copper Queen company. The order comes to us as a surprise and we were not expecting it. But we belong to the union and we have either to throw up our jobs or our cards and we prefer the former. We go to El Paso and get instructions there."

The boys left last night. It was learned last night that there was no inconvenience experienced by the dropping out of the few men who quit here as there were more applications than could be filled. This matter seems to have been under consideration for some time by the boilermakers union at its headquarters to the knowledge of the Southwestern.

WARNING GIVEN MICHIGAN MINERS

Asked to Remain Away from Bisbee Owing to Strike There—Emissary of Copper Queen Denies That He Had Made False Promises to Men.

Marshall Trudell of the village of Red Jacket has received a communication from Alphonso Hughes of Bisbee, Ariz., concerning the strike in that district. Who he is the officer is unable to say, but his communication came here just a day or two after the arrival of the man about whom he writes.

In part Mr. Hughes writes to the effect as follows:

"I wish to drop you a few lines to let you know a few things that are going on at Bisbee, Ariz., at present. There are labor troubles there. The miners are ready to strike. I hear from good authority that the mining companies here are going to try and get miners to take their places in case of a strike. A fellow left here last week for Calumet to try and get men. His intentions are to tell the miners throughout Michigan that there is a shortage of miners here and under these false pretenses to get them to come to Bisbee. At present there are 800 or 900 men here with families who are or who will be without work. So will you kindly put an article in the Calumet paper and notify the Michigan men of the trouble in Bisbee."

The letter was written at Bisbee on April 5, several days before the climax was reached.

No False Promises

As far as has been learned Josiah Trevattick, for he is the man above mentioned, met with indifferent success. He attempted to get men by no false promises, it is said. While he claimed that there was no strike, still he spoke the truth, for there was no trouble until Wednesday. He told all who thought of leaving here the state of affairs and it is claimed even mentioned that there was a possibility of a strike in the Bisbee camp.

As a matter of fact, it is hardly likely that many copper country men will care to go to Bisbee until conditions are more settled than they are now. While the wage scale offered there is higher than here, still the added cost of living more than makes up for the difference. There may be some men, particularly among those unmarried, who will take chances with the strike and accept positions in the Bisbee mines.

Gold Buried in Guam

Fifty thousand dollars in greenbacks, to be used in paying government expenses at Guam, will be sent to that island by the next transport. The greenbacks are from $1 to $5 in denomination.

As there is a shortage of small paper money at the treasury, the greenbacks were gathered at the different banks. The money is sent in this form at the request of the governor of Guam. He sent word to the navy pay office that gold sent to Guam went out of circulation almost immediately, as the natives bury it as soon as they receive it. The island is full of buried treasure pots, the location of which is known only to their owners. The natives look upon greenbacks as stage money, and their desire to pass them along keeps up a healthy circulation of currency.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Reflections of a Bachelor

A girl is always afraid to be alone with a man unless she says she is.

Even when it's her own mother coming to see her a woman calls it a house party.

Imagination is thinking you are having a good time when you are only spending money.

A woman wants her children to have their father's courage and her brains and beauty.

Sometimes a man can save money by taking his wife on trips with him, by not having to bring her back presents.—New York Press.
